Chiropractic Associate Ad for Wholesome Health Chiropractic

A sensational opportunity to work in a busy sports chiropractic clinic in Armidale, NSW. With a university, airport (to Brisbane and Sydney), an abundance of schools, stunning national parks and did I mention a 5 min commute to work? If the last few months have got you questioning your city lifestyle, then look no further than the relaxing, laid back and wide open spaces Armidale's country lifestyle has to offer.

As a sports chiropractic clinic we use a wide range of modalities. If you have an interest or experience with; dry needling, K-tape/rocktape, IASTM, soft tissue techniques, clinical pilates, rehabilitation and women's health, then we'd love to hear from you.

We have an overflowing patient base as our most recent associate left to take some time off. In addition, there are healthy referrals from various gyms, sporting teams, GP's and allied health therapists so there is no shortage of patients (even in this current climate!)

At Wholesome Health we offer both 15 and 30-minute consults. Currently the clinic is open Monday-Friday with flexible hours with the choice of working full or half days.

The Opportunity:

This is a unique opportunity for a Chiropractor or Physiotherapist to join a highly experienced and motivated team of allied health care professionals.

Ideal candidate:

- A Chiropractor or Physiotherapist who uses evidence-based practice with a keen interest for sports care and rehabilitation
- Has a demonstrated ability to collaborate with other health practitioners such as specialists, GPs, personal trainers and coaches
- Excellent communication skills
- Keen interest to further education, including improving personal and professional goals
- Keen to be part of a close-knit team and motivated to expand their personal patient base and contribute to helping the clinic grow

Essential criteria:

- Hold current registration with APHRA
- Insured for work in private practice
- Maintain current First Aid and CPR certificate
- Have a strong clinical knowledge of spinal and peripheral injuries and treatment

The rewards:

- The successful applicant will be offered a varied patient load, flexibility and a supportive team environment
- The successful applicant will work closely with an experienced and knowledgeable team in a variety of areas and specialties
- The successful applicant will be encouraged to develop their key areas of strength
- Generous commission based remuneration
- Marketing team behind you to assist in building a client base
- Educational support
- Flexible working hours

If this interests you then we'd love to hear from you. Please email a cover letter with your CV (with references) and any questions to drgrace@wholesomehealthchiro.com.au
